

JOURNAL OF SURVEY STATISTICS AND METHODOLOGY

VOLUME 9 / NUMBER 1 / FEBRUARY 2021

Survey Methodology

Optimal Response Formats for Online Surveys: Branch, Grid, or Single Item?

Matthew DeBell, Catherine Wilson, Simon Jackman, and

Lucila Figueroa

1

Re-Examining the Middle Means Typical and the Left and Top Means First Heuristics Using Eye-Tracking Methodology

Jan Karem Höhne, Timo Lenzner, Cornelia E. Neuert, and Ting Yan

25

The Dynamics of “Neither Agree Nor Disagree” Answers in Attitudinal Questions

Miriam Truebner

51

Language Proficiency Among Respondents: Implications for Data Quality in a Longitudinal Face-To-Face Survey

Alexander Wenz, Tarek Al Baghal, and Alessandra Gaia

73

Survey Statistics

Population Size Estimation Using Multiple Respondent-Driven Sampling Surveys

Brian J. Kim and Mark S. Handcock

94

A Sampling Design for Ordered Populations

Xiaofei Zhang and Wayne A. Fuller

121

Tools for Selecting Working Correlation Structures When Using Weighted GEE to Model Longitudinal Survey Data

Philip M. Westgate and Brady T. West

141

Applications

The Impact of Nonsampling Errors on Estimators of Catch from Electronic Reporting Systems

S. Lynne Stokes, Benjamin M. Williams, Ryan P. A. McShane, and Shalima Zalzha

159

The Pseudo Maximum Likelihood Estimator for Quantiles of Survey Variables

Jing Wang

185

Corrigendum

Corrigendum to: Who Can You Count On? Understanding the Determinants of Reliability

Roger Tourangeau, Ting Yan, and Hanyu Sun

202